

Mothers hold their children's hands for a short while, but their hearts forever.

Mothers hold their children's hands for a short while, but their hearts forever.